

RECOGNIZING AUTISM AND TREATMENT OF COMMONLY ASSOCIATED PROBLEMATIC BEHAVIORS

Virtual Training Session

THURSDAY
14 DECEMBER

TIME
12:00 PM

About

This presentation will review the screening methods to detect autism and how the presentation of autism may vary based upon age. Additionally, treatment approaches for commonly associated problematic behaviors such as inattention, insomnia, self-injurious behaviors, and aggression will be discussed.

To register please contact Adrianna Delgado at adriannadelgado@usf.edu
For more information visit <https://floridabhcenter.org/>

Sandra Stock, M.D.

Sandra Stock, M.D. is a Professor at the University of South Florida in the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Neurosciences. Dr. Stock served as the Program Director for USF's Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Fellowship program for 18 years and is currently the Child Psychiatry Division Chief. Dr. Stock is an active member of the American Academy of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry serving on the committee for Continuing Medical Education.

